

SEWCMO Stakeholder Involvement Plan Long Term Care Redesign

The Southeastern Wisconsin Care Management Organization offers the following plan in response to assuring stakeholder involvement.

Two of the five original counties in SEWCMO have moved forward towards implementation of long-term care redesign. Racine and Kenosha Counties are likely to see conversion of the current waiver funded recipients into some form of managed care during 2007. For each of these counties, a more specific plan has been developed. These plans for Racine and Kenosha Counties are attached.

For the remaining three counties, Waukesha, Ozaukee and Washington Counties and perhaps, Walworth County, there are less defined stakeholder involvement plans. At our SEWCMO meeting on June 19, 2006, the three or four counties not planning for implementation in 2007 will be asked to determine next steps for a regional CMO in southeastern Wisconsin. Once those next steps are understood and formalized, a stakeholder involvement plan will be documented and shared with DHFS.
